Grant Title
IFUW Dr. A. Vibert Douglas International Fellowship:

Description
This is a triennial fellowship funded by Canadian Federation of University Women (CFUW) and administered by International Federation of University Women (IFUW). This competition is open to women graduates for research for a period of eight months abroad. Members of the IFUW should apply through their national affiliate (in the United States, the American Association of University Women, 1111 16th St NW, Washington, DC 20036). The deadline for receipt of applications is determined by each affiliate but normally falls between early September and mid-October of the year preceding the competition; contact national headquarters for exact date.

Requirements
An applicant must be a woman graduate and must be well started on the research program to which the application relates.

Restrictions
A fellowship will not be awarded for the first year of a PhD program.

Amount
$C12,000

Grant Title
Zonta International Foundation Amelia Earhart Fellowships

Description
This program awards 35-40 Fellowships annually to assist women in advanced study and research in a suitable area of aerospace science or engineering. These Fellowships are open to women of any nationality and may be used at any institution of higher learning offering accredited graduate courses and degrees in aerospace studies. The Fellowship may be used for tuition, books and fees, or living expenses. Requests for a second award by current fellows undergo the same evaluation procedures as the initial application; a third award may be made in exceptional cases. The successful candidate identifies the relevance of her field of study to aerospace-related science or aerospace-related engineering, demonstrates outstanding academic credentials, and specifically outlines her professional or career goals as well as detailing an original focus in her research project.

Requirements
To qualify, a woman must have at the time of application a bachelor's degree in a qualifying area of science or engineering, a superior academic record and evidence of potential at a recognized institution of higher learning, and completion of one year of graduate school.

Amount
$6,000 maximum

Deadline
Nov 15

Grant Title
AAUW International Fellowships

Description
Funds are for one year of graduate and postgraduate study or research at an approved institution in the United States and are given to women of outstanding ability who are citizens of countries other than the United States. Funding varies according to level of study, which includes: a Master's / Professional Fellowship of $18,000; a Doctorate Fellowship of $20,000; and a Postdoctoral Fellowship of $30,000. Strong preference will be given to women whose credentials prove prior commitment to the amelioration of the lives of other women and girls through civic, community, or professional work and whose research proposals show a continued interest in the advancement of women. Applicants are judged on their professional potential and on the importance of their projects to their country of origin. Applications are available from August 1 to December 1.

Requirements
Candidates must have an academic degree equivalent to the US bachelor's degree; must have a specific plan of study or research that will advance the applicant's professional competence; must intend to return home to pursue a professional career; must devote full time to graduate work; and must have satisfactory English proficiency. Applicants whose native language is not English must submit up-to-date scores on one of four language proficiency examinations. Preference will be given to applicants who have specific positions to return to in their own countries.

Restrictions
Previous and current recipients of AAUW fellowships are not eligible to apply.

Amount
$18,000-$30,000

Grant Title
SWE Scholarships:

Description
The SWE Scholarship Program provides financial assistance to women admitted to accredited baccalaureate or graduate programs, in preparation for careers in engineering, engineering technology and computer science. Currently, SWE disbursed more than 180 new and renewed scholarships valued at $470,000. Grants are announced in the summer (sophomore, junior, senior and graduate students) and late summer/early fall (freshmen and reentry students) for use during the following academic year. Grant payments are made in the fall for corporate-sponsored scholarships and in both the fall and spring for endowed scholarships, upon proof of registration. Scholarships and fellowships range from $1,000 to $10,000 each.

Requirements
All SWE-administered scholarships are open only to women majoring in engineering in a school, college, or university with an accredited engineering program, and who will be in a specified year of study during the academic year following presentation of the grant. Reentry scholarships are limited to women who have been out of the engineering job market for a minimum of two years and who will return to school for an engineering program, undergraduate or graduate.

Amount
$1,000-$10,000

Grant Title
IRA Jeanne S. Chall Research Fellowship

Description
The fellowship was established to encourage and support reading research by promising scholars. The special emphasis of the fellowship is to support research efforts in the following areas: beginning reading (theory, research, and practice that improves the effectiveness of learning to read); readability (methods of predicting the difficulty of texts); reading difficulty (diagnosis, treatment, and prevention); stages of reading development; the relation of vocabulary to reading; and diagnosing and teaching adults with limited reading ability. Additional guidelines are available at: http://www.reading.org/Resources/AwardsandGrants/research_chall.aspx.

Requirements
All applicants must be members of the International Reading Association. Open to doctoral students who are planning or beginning their dissertations and to university based graduate students who are embarking on their independent research studies on the topic.

Samples

Law and Public Affairs:

Grant Title
Law and Public Affairs (LAPA) Fellowships at Princeton University

Description
The program invites outstanding faculty, independent scholars, lawyers, and judges to apply for appointments as fellows for the academic year. LAPA Fellows devote the major portion of their time to their own research and writing on law-related subjects of empirical, interpretive and/or normative significance. In addition, LAPA Fellows are expected to participate in LAPA programs, including a biweekly faculty-graduate seminar and a weekly discussion group, as well as some public events and conferences. Salaries vary according to individual circumstances but will not exceed a maximum that is set each fall. One of the general Fellows who will teach an undergraduate course through LAPA will be named the Martin and Kathleen Crane Fellow in Law and Public Affairs.

Requirements
The Fellows program is open to all regardless of citizenship, but it does not support work toward the completion of a degree. All applicants should have received a doctorate, juris doctor, or an equivalent professional degree by the beginning of the fellowship. In evaluating an application, the selection committee looks particularly closely at the proposal outlining work the applicant proposes to do while in residence at Princeton. Successful LAPA applicants should demonstrate substantial expertise in law-related matters, but in explaining research projects, applicants would be well advised to write for an audience of academic generalists. LAPA is particularly interested in potential Fellows with interests in policy or in normative or interpretive inquiry. The selection committee, made up of Princeton faculty associated with the program, will evaluate applicants on the basis of (1) the quality of their achievements in their field of specialization and their ability to benefit from the activities of the program; (2) the quality and significance of their proposed projects; (3) the contributions they are likely to make in the future to legal scholarship and practice; and (4) their ability to contribute to intellectual life in legal studies at Princeton. In any given year, the program tries to get a mix of senior and junior scholars, domestic and international scholars, and those based in law schools or in the practice of law on the one hand and those whose homes are in other disciplines on the other. LAPA does not announce annual themes for its Fellows so applications on all law-related subjects are welcome for the general Fellows program. Applications should be submitted using the online application.

Restrictions
The program does not normally support, as a primary activity, off-site fieldwork, development of course materials, work in legal practice, direct advocacy of causes or residence elsewhere.
Samples
2009-2010: Jeannine Bell, Indiana University Maurer School of Law; Susanna Blumenthal, University of Minnesota; Bernadette Meyler, Cornell University; Ralf Michaels, Duke University School of Law; Eli M. Salzberger, University of Haifa; Jim Staihar, LAPA Fellow.

Rockefeller Brothers Fund Fellowship in Nonprofit Law

Description
The fellowship permits one fellow each year to spend one year in residence at the Vera Institute of Justice in New York City, working closely with Vera's general counsel and special counsel on legal issues. The fellowship will provide a law school graduate with exposure to a wide variety of legal and organizational issues encountered by nonprofit organizations. It also will provide the opportunity to identify an emerging or changing area of law with particular significance for nonprofits. Fellows will be selected without regard to race, color, religion, gender, political beliefs, national origin, disability, age, or sexual orientation.

Requirements
Graduates of accredited US law schools are eligible.
