

AGEP Explores U.S. Change in Happiness

EAST LANSING, Michigan, February 7, 2013 - The February 2013 AGEP Community Meeting welcomed six new students and our CrossTalk presenters were graduate students Felix Cheung and Kayra Hopkins.

Mr. Cheung belongs to the Department of Psychology and presented on "Investigating the Change in Happiness in the US from 2005 to 2009". Ms. Hopkins is a student in the Department of Computer Science and shared her research on "Data-driven Animation: Using Scan Data and 3D Imaging to Automate Character Animation". The Science in the News segment was presented by Sakeena Everett on the article, "Am I going crazy?!: A critical race analysis of doctoral education" by Ryan Evely Gildersleeve, Natasha N. Croom, and Phillip L. Vasquez.
