

MSU AGEP Sees Record Attendance

EAST LANSING, Michigan, January 3, 2013 - The January 2013 AGEP Community Meeting kicked started off with the largest turnout ever recorded for a regularly scheduled meeting in the normal academic year, with nearly 70 attendees. Our CrossTalk presenters were graduate students Sherrae Hayes and Andres Ramirez.

Ms. Hayes is a student in the Department of African American and African Studies, whose presentation was titled: "S.W.A.G. = Style With A Goal: Exploring Fashion/Style as a Critical Literacy of Urban Black Youth". Mr.

Ramirez is a student in Computer Science and Engineering and presented on "Applying social network analysis to adapt circulars offers at Google". The Science in the News segment was led by Kellie Mayfield on the Regulation of Supplements.
