

Academic Integrity Promotion and Prevention

The Office of the University Ombudsperson will be hosting two sessions for instructors this fall dedicated to discussions of academic integrity. They will be offered both in person and virtual. To register, please follow the Qualtrics link below. Zoom information will be sent out to those registered prior to the event.

Promotion and Prevention 1.0: Exploring the Nuances in Academic Integrity in the Classroom

September 17, 2021 (in person), 114 Bessey Hall @ Noon OR September 24, 2021 (virtual) @ Noon

- In this presentation, instructors will have the opportunity to learn key strategies in discussing the importance of academic integrity, as well as in preventing misconduct. Additionally, university policies and procedures in responding to misconduct will be explored to navigate these sometimes difficult conversations.

Promotion and Prevention 2.0: Understanding the Digital Landscape of Academic Integrity

October 1, 2021 (in person), 114 Bessey Hall @ Noon OR October 22, 2021 (virtual) @ Noon

- As the events of the last two years have required many instructors to move their courses to the online environment, many have paused to examine their practices around academic integrity. This presentation will explore the digital landscape of academic integrity including considerations for assessment security and e-cheating, as well as how university policy should be considered in these spaces.
