Using LinkedIn

LinkedIn is the primary online tool for making connections and expanding your network inside and outside of academia. With networking being one of the best ways to develop your career, you certainly don't want to miss out on LinkedIn!

Creating a Successful Profile

Use a professional photo. This could be the first picture of you that a future employer sees.

Be sure you have a complete profile. Do not skip any of the available sections unless you believe they are irrelevant to your field.

Compose a brief summary statement that highlights the skills you want employers to know about and what your long-term career goals include. Tailor this statement according to the job you are seeking.

Include employment experience relevant to your field. As there is no limit to the amount of experience you can post, feel free to include positions or accomplishments that you were not able to fit on your resume.

Include categories such as volunteer experience, languages, publications, projects, and organizations you support if you believe these support your career objectives.

Personalize your URL (see back of page). This will make your profile easier to find, and you can choose to list it in your resume if your wish.

Growing Your Network

Join groups that will allow you to reach out to other PhDs. These include groups like the Mid-Michigan Versatile PhD Group, the MSU Alumni Association, and the Michigan State University Graduate Career Network.

Follow companies that interest you and where you are seeking employment. Sometimes, companies will post job and internship opportunities through their pages.

In addition, join groups for professional associations in your field and causes you are interested in.

Stay active! Post updates, contribute to group discussions, and comment on connections' updates.

Always send a personalized message when connecting with another LinkedIn member. Avoid LinkedIn's generic "I'd like to add you to my professional network" message.

Use the private messaging feature (see back) to communicate with connections and other group members. This is a fantastic way to reach out to people for informational interviews.

Visit the "Michigan State University" page and the pages of any other alma maters and use the "Find Students and Alumni" feature to see where other MSU students and alumni are working (see back for more information).

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Using LinkedIn
Online Resources

Linked in

Be sure to join the Michigan State University Graduate Career Network, where you will find job leads and information on upcoming graduate career development events, and will be able to start discussions with other MSU PhDs!

bit.ly/GradCareerNetwork

How to Customize Your LinkedIn Public Profile URL: by consultant Linda Cheung.

bit.ly/1HLdTnR

The Best Way to Network with Alumni on LinkedIn: the second section of this article gives a brief how-to on how to utilize the "Find Students & Alumni" feature available on the Michigan State University page.

bit.ly/1INACUm

Communicating with Other LinkedIn Members: a brief tutorial on how to use LinkedIn's private messaging features.

bit.ly/1WoXr7M

How Your Resume and LinkedIn Profile Should Differ: a good how-to on what to and what not to include in your profile.

bit.ly/1KIrjss

7 LinkedIn Profile Tips and Tricks in 2015 that Make a Difference:

bit.ly/1KIrDYt

RECOMMENDED GROUPS AND PAGES TO FOLLOW:

Michigan State University Alumni Association

bit.ly/msualumniassociation

Spartan Links—Connecting Michigan State Students & Alumni

bit.ly/SpartanLinks

Michigan State University Graduate Career Network

bit.ly/MSUGradCareerNetwork

Michigan State University

bit.ly/MSULinkedInPage

Mid-Michigan Versatile PhD for information on the East Lansing-area Versatile PhD meetups.

bit.ly/MidMichiganVersatilePhD

PhD Careers Outside of Academia advice and networking for those interested in alt-ac careers.

bit.ly/PhDCareersOutsideofAcademia

Stay connected with PhD Career Services!

careersuccess.msu.edu/phdcareers • hireaphd@msu.edu

@PhDCareersMSU   MSUGradCareerSuccess

For current events and opportunities for PhDs, subscribe to our monthly newsletter at bit.ly/graddigest

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY