

DISCIPLINE-RELATED TEACHING STRATEGIES: COURSE REQUIREMENT

(2017)

As a part of your work towards Certification, you must take a for-credit course approved by your college that will give you an opportunity to think more about discipline-specific pedagogical issues in your discipline. Some of these courses include:

AL881	Teaching with Technology
AL891	Special Topics in Arts & Humanities – Practicum in Blended and Online Learning
AL891	Special Topics in Arts & Humanities – Course Design
ANR886	Teaching and Learning in Applied Sciences
CEP820	Teaching On-line
CEP952	Technology in Higher Education
EAD861A	Adult Learning
EAD861B	Strategies for Teaching Adults
EAD866	Teaching in Postsecondary Education
EAD871A	Academic Programs and Instruction in Higher Education
EAD871B	Collegiate Contexts for Teaching and Learning
ENG811	Foundations of Engineering Education (College of Engineering students only)
GRM810	Theory and Practice of Teaching German
ISE820	College Student Cognition in Science
ISE870	Teaching College Science
KIN980	Issues in Teaching Undergraduate Kinesiology
KIN981	Mentored Teaching in Undergraduate Kinesiology
MTHE 879	Teaching College Mathematics
MSU 964	College Music Teaching Seminar
NUR866	Academic and Clinical Teaching in Nursing Education
NUR861	Curriculum Design in Nursing Education
PLB802	Scientific Teaching
PSY890	Special Problems in Psychology
ROM803	Current Approaches to Romance Language Instruction
SME870	Teaching College Science

Please see your college CCTP college contact for more information about which courses are appropriate for certification in your College.